Fire safety

In the instance of a fire emergency, please call 999.

Before you go to bed
Please close all the doors before going to bed and ensure the log burner has been shut down and made safe for the night.

In the kitchen
No deep fat fryers are permitted.

Fireworks
No fireworks are permitted on the estate at any time.

Before you leave
We request that guests close all windows and doors when leaving the property unoccupied.

Firepit safety
We hope that you enjoy using the outdoor firepit for social gatherings and BBQ's throughout your stay. Before using, please familiarise yourself with our safety guidelines.

- Supervise children at all times when fire is lit as the steel will get very hot
- Set your fire pit on stone, brick, gravel or on a slab on decking (it will develop rust as it ages which can mark some surfaces). If putting your fire pit on grass, be aware it may get scorched underneath
- Ensure a spark will not reach anything flammable
- Keep a supply of water to hand in case you need to damp down the fire
- Always use protective gloves when handling things such as BBQ racks
- Ensure your fire pit is out (or put the lid on) before leaving it unattended

Using your firepit
- Only use well-seasoned dry wood to reduce smoke. You can also use charcoal (but not house coal)
- Make a fire with plenty of logs and burn for at least ½ hour before you want to use it (the first ½ hour of burning produces the most smoke)
- Ideally leave an hour before cooking to allow embers to form. You can separate bigger logs to one side so that you can keep your fire ticking over while you cook over the embers
- If you're in a hurry to cook, add charcoal to the fire once it's going and move the bigger logs to one side
- It is recommended that cooking accessories should be treated with oil to protect them before use. To remove this, heat the product over the fire before the first use and wash well. After every use, rub over a little cooking oil after washing and drying. If any rust develops, clean off with a wire brush, dry well and rub over with oil.

Fire extinguishers

There is no obligation for guests to use the extinguishers, especially if they are not confident in doing so. It is more important to get out of the building and stay out until the Fire Brigade tells you to return.

We hope that you won't need them, but please familiarise yourselves with the locations and types of fire extinguishers within the property and how to use them.

How to operate a fire extinguisher
There are a number of different types of portable fire extinguishers, each can be identified by the colour coding and labelling. Check that the extinguisher you intend to use is suitable for the type of fire encountered eg a water extinguisher must never be used on any fire involving electrical equipment. There are four (4) basic steps for using modern portable fire extinguishers.

The acronym PASS is used to describe these four basic steps.

Pull (Pin)
Pull pin at the top of the extinguisher, breaking the seal. When in place, the pin keeps the handle from being pressed and accidentally operating the extinguisher. Immediately test the extinguisher. (Aiming away from the operator). This is to ensure the extinguisher works and also shows the operator how far the stream travels.

Aim
Approach the fire standing at a safe distance. Aim the nozzle or outlet towards the base of the fire.

Squeeze
Squeeze the handles together to discharge the extinguishing agent inside. To stop discharge, release the handles.

Sweep
Sweep the nozzle from side to side as you approach the fire, directing the extinguishing agent at the base of the flames. After an A Class fire is extinguished, probe for smouldering hot spots that could reignite the fuel.

Types of fire extinguisher

CO_2
CO_2 extinguishers are multi-purpose extinguishers, covering the following types of fire:
- Flammable liquids such as petrol, diesel, white spirits etc
- Electric Risk fires

Foam Fire Extinguisher
Foam extinguishers are dual purpose and provide cover for freely burning materials. They are not safe to use on cooking oil. It also provides cover for the following flammable liquids:
- Petrol
- Diesel
- White spirits

Fire Blanket
Fire blankets are used to smother smaller fires, cutting off the oxygen supply. Fire blankets can cover: people, toasters, kettles, microwaves, bins, and electronic devices.

Hot tub safety

All hot tubs are emptied, cleaned and refilled after each stay; therefore, the hot tubs may not reach optimal temperature until late evening / early next morning following your arrival.

- Do not exceed bather load
- We do not advise use of the hot tub during pregnancy, please contact your doctor for advice before entering the water.
- People with skin, ear, genital or other body infections, open sores, or wounds should not use the hot tub because of the possibility of spreading infection or irritating an existing condition.
- People with heart disease, diabetes, low or high blood pressure, immunosuppression or are experiencing health problems should not enter the hot tub without prior consultation with their doctor.
- Never use the hot tub while using or after using drugs that may cause sleepiness, drowsiness or raise/lower blood pressure. The heat of the hot tub water speeds up the effects of alcohol and can cause sleepiness, dizziness and even unconsciousness.
- Do not use the hot tub immediately after a heavy meal.
- At 37°C plus, limit your time in the hot tub to a maximum of 15 minutes.
- Do not immerse your head in the hot tub water, and do not use the hot tub alone.
- Take care when entering and leaving the hot tub, leg muscles may be relaxed enough to make you unsteady.
- Never use glass near/in the hot tub, please use the plastic glasses available.
- Do not use any electrical appliances near/in the hot tub.
- If any fault or damage occurs with the hot tub please contact a member of our team at the earliest convenient moment.
- Parents are advised that hot tubs are not suitable for children under four years old. Please warn your children not to put water in their mouths, as this can cause infections and illnesses. Never allow children to use the hot tub unsupervised.

Hot tub safety

- Please ensure that you take a shower before using the hot tub – this ensures that the water stays fresh for the duration of your stay, and that the filters don't become clogged!
- We ask you to shower with soap and water before and after using the hot tub. Showering before use washes away many of the common skin bacteria and removes lotions, deodorants, creams etc which reduce the effectiveness of the spa sanitizer which disinfects the water.
- When not in use, make sure the cover is on and secured.
- Do not sit or walk on the hot tub cover.
- Avoid entering the hot tub water immediately after exercising as the water temperature can affect the heart rate.
- Take care on the hot tub steps and surrounding area as water from the tub can cause it to be slippery.
- If any allergic reaction occurs leave the hot tub and rinse off in the shower. If the reaction persists seek medical attention.
- Do not turn hot tub isolation switch off as the hot tub's power needs to be turned on to carry out the cleaning cycles.
- Pets are prohibited from entering the hot tub.
- Do not wear fake tan, sun tan lotions or skin creams in the hot tub.

Daily hot tub inspections

To ensure the safe and enjoyable use of the hot tubs we request that you read through and adhere to the rules of this safety document.

About the Estate

"There's something about this land which captures your imagination and transports you to a less complicated time. There's a peacefulness here which gives you time and space to reflect and enjoy the beauty of your surroundings. South Shropshire is a hidden gem."

Chris Morris, Owner and Director

Marrington Estate is owned by the Morris family, who in the 1840s, lived down the road in West Felton where their large family farmed. Some years after the family photograph below was taken, James Kent Morris set up his modest retail and property enterprise in 1869 which would build the foundations for the larger family business today. James Kent would have loved to know that the beautiful estate on his doorstep would one day be owned and managed by his descendants.

We have owned and maintained this estate for over 15 years, actively investing and improving the grounds. This ranges from planting trees, fencing, ditching, hedge pleaching and of course, inviting guests to come and share the space.

The earliest historical reference to the beautiful Marrington Estate is in the Domesday Book of 1086 which mentions woodland for fattening 15 pigs at Marrington, which may have been within the gorge. The place-name Marrington, given as Meritune in the Domesday Book, is derived from the Old English elements gemaere and tun, meaning settlement on the boundary.

Walks & Estate access

With spectacular vistas, Marrington's river gorge and valley crests make for wonderful walking.

You'll find a Dingle Valley Walk map, Mitchell's Fold Walks map, Offa's Dyke Walks map and an OS Map in your property which covers much of estate and surrounding areas. Feel free to explore the designated routes at your leisure, we just ask that you don't enter any areas marked 'No Entry' on the estate for your safety.

GATE CODE
Whilst walking on the Estate, you may come across some locked gates. Marrington Escapes guests have exclusive access to explore these designated routes. Simply lift the code cover, reset then press 2468 and enter. Please ignore the key.

Walking Safely

Countryside Code

- Be safe, plan ahead and follow any signs.
- Take maps and guidebooks.
- Leave gates and property as you find them.
- Protect plants and animals and take your litter home.
- Keep dogs under close control.
- Consider other people.

How to walk safely through a field of livestock

Whatever the animal, follow our top tips and you'll be unlikely to run into any issues.

- Have a look around when you reach the edge of the field. Are there any cows with calves, horses, or sheep? Cows with calves are the most common cause of problems for walkers as they actively protect their young.
- Do not enter a field that contains a bull. There will be plenty of signage around the field and gateways to prevent this.
- Keep a good distance from the animals. If they are on a path, then you're allowed to go off the path to walk around them. If you are on open access land, then you can walk across the field to give the animals space.
- Walk quickly and quietly. Animals may approach you, especially groups of cows, which can be quite intimidating. If you panic, or run they may also start running.
- Do not approach any animals and certainly do not feed them or touch them. Animals on a farm will have strict diets, especially horses, and feeding them can be very harmful.
- Leave any gates as you find them.

Walking with a dog near livestock

It is an offence to not keep your dog under control when in a field with animals. This is especially an issue with sheep, as dogs may chase, worry or even attack them. The law gives farmers the right to shoot a dog that is causing issues with their animals.

Always keep your dog on a lead when around animals. If cattle are running towards you, or you feel in any way in danger, then let your dog off the lead. Your dog will be able to get to safety and removing the dog from the situation will calm the cattle.

Local Walks

Guests may follow the Offa's Dyke Circular and Mitchell's Fold Walks. Maps are left in the property. Please stick to designated routes and heed cautions marked as 'Take care!'.

Bio security

Please note that the Marrington Estate is within an Avian Influenza Prevention Zone (AIPZ). For the biosecurity of the area, and to protect the local environment, guests must ensure all vehicles remain on designated roads and parking areas and do not access any fields or other unauthorised land. We also ask that you keep to authorised footpaths at all times while walking on the Estate.
